

Felisa Flecker

Felisa Flecker' passion for art began as a child in her native country of Cuba, but her artistic talent developed in the US. She attended credited and non-credited courses at local schools in the Baltimore area. After moving to Florida, she attended classes at the Ringling School of Art in Sarasota, eventually entering juried shows where she won several awards. One of her pieces was chosen to promote tourism for Manatee

County. After moving back to Maryland, she became active in the art community, again winning awards. She belongs to the Carroll Co Art League and the Carroll Co Arts Council where she was invited to be part of a special show with seven other magnificent artists. Flecker also belongs to the Maryland Federation of Art and the Women's Artists Forum and she currently has a studio at the Bromo Arts Tower in Baltimore City.
